2. How to Avoid Paying Interest on Purchases: We begin assessing periodic interest charges on a transaction, fee, or interest charge from the date it is added to your daily balance as described in the Cardmember Agreement until your Account is paid in full. Your due date will be a minimum of 25 days following the close of each billing cycle. You can avoid periodic interest charges on new purchases when they are first billed to a statement, as follows. If you receive a current monthly statement that includes new purchases, and them make a payment that we receive by the date and time the Minimum Payment is due for that statement, we will not charge periodic interest on any portion of the new purchases, so long as your current statement also shows that we received payment of the ending balance for your previous month's statement by the date and time its Minimum Payment was due or that the ending balance for your previous month's statement was zero. statement was zero

In accordance with the terms specific to your account, a minimum interest charge will be assessed for each billing period your account is subject to a finance charge.

- your account is subject to a finance charge.

 3. Calculation of Balance Subject to Interest Rate—Average Daily Balance (Including New Purchases): We figure the periodic interest charges for each billing period using the average daily balance (including current transactions) method. For an explanation of this method, and questions about a particular interest charge calculation on your statement, please call us toll free at the customer service phone number listed on this statement. Periodic interest charges are determined by applying the monthly periodic rate shown on this statement to the average daily balance of your account. There is a minimum interest charge in any billing cycle in which you owe any periodic interest charges.
- 4. Account Information Reported to Credit Bureaus: We may report information about your account to credit bureaus. Late payments, missed payments or other defaults on your account may be reflected in your credit report.
